Almost Whole Austrian Border Invaded by Italy

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 26.—An official press communication states that the Italian invasion of Austria has been extended over almost the whole of the Austro-Italian frontier. According to this statement, the Italian army has taken a number of towns near the border, and has forced their way through mountain passes, occupying strategic positions. Apparently there has been little heavy fighting thus far, although in one instance a bayonet encounter is mentioned. It is stated the Austrians attacked everywhere, destroying bridges as they fell back.

Allies Loss in Belgium, However, Is Offset by French Thrust in Northern France Near Arras

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 26.—The new attack of General MacKenzie against the British in the Champagne region, however, says that attacks on the Russian line along the San were scattered, and concedes no new Austro-German victories.

The British have even given ground in Belgium to the Germans, who once more are pressing forward strongly. The allies apparently have offset this German advance, however, a French thrust further south, in northern France, near Arras.

A series of attacks from both sides of the line north of Arras last night brought on fighting of unusual violence. The official communication from Paris today, however, says that the British have been repulsed. The Berlin statement admits the loss of a small village near Giverny, but asserts that the allies were driven back with heavy losses.

The German war office also announces that General MacKenzie's attack in Galicia north of Przemyśl, continues to gain progress. Additional gains were gained after heavy fighting. Unofficial reports from Petrograd say it is impossible to say whether the Germans have actually checked in Galicia and southern Russia, and that the Russian war office is now prepared to assume the offensive.

SHORTER COLLEGE HAS GREAT COMMENCEMENT

Senior Class Gives Original Play—Dr. Vance Preaches Sermon

ROME, Ga., May 26.—Shorter college continued its commencement exercises this week with two delightful exercises. Upon the beautiful lawn at Maplesburg, the senior class exercises were presented. This is always one of the most interesting exercises of the commencement season, and these were conceded to be the best that the Rome public has witnessed. The entire student body marched from the college hill, the various classes carrying their banners the air filled with the spirit and melody of college songs. The sophomore seniors carried a "Daisy Chain" which added much to the beauty of the scene. At Maplesburg, the seniors took their places upon the veranda of Maplesburg and a most interesting program was given.

Monday evening the college chapel was filled with visitors and citizens to hear the first original play given by a senior class of Shorter college. The play was entitled "Jean's Quest for the Jewel." It was written by Miss Martha Galt of Canton, Ga. Miss Louise Dwyer, of Griffin, and Miss Evelyn Lewis, of Cartersville. It was in the form of an allegory and was designed to set forth the typical life of a girl through four years at Shorter. The first act dealt with her life as a freshman, symbolized by a journey through an imaginary land known as Emerald Isle. Here she meets the "Classification Committee" and is then led astray by "Good Times," "Basketball," but finally reaches "Gingerland," the country of the "Sophomore." Here she takes part in the hazing of a freshman and is brought before the "Discipline Committee." On she goes through the land of the Junior, and finally after many trials and much suffering, she reaches the goal of all college students, "Seniorland" and wins the much coveted diploma. The play reflected great credit upon the girls; it was full of bright, witty music and witty sayings. Tuesday Dr. James I. Vance delivered the baccalaureate service and commencement exercises closed. Dr. Van House in his report to the board of trustees yesterday, stated that the year had been a most successful one in every way.

CHATHAM GRAND JURY WOULD RUN COUNTY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SAVANNAH, Ga., May 26.—The grand jury of Chatham county certainly "hook things up" yesterday afternoon when it made its presentments and suggested that the affairs of the county should be supervised by the grand jury. The county commissioners had given them no consideration. The presentments were so anything ever presented to the grand jury that they took the city by surprise. The grand jury also suggested a permanent improvement made in many directions. The present county commissioners are all to be retired next year unless they are re-elected. There are only three elected by the people, the two others being elected by their fellow members following resignations of those named by the people.

GAINEVILLE ENJOYS REGULAR BOOM NOW

GAINEVILLE, Ga., May 26.—Gainesville is on a boom after going through the recent financial strain that all other cities have experienced. So far to have a new four-story office building, the first ever built here. Many new homes are to be built, additional stories to score buildings on the public square are now being added, the new millinery and retail operations today, the Southern railroad is widening and double-tracking its roadbed from Gainesville to Cornelia, thus expending thousands of dollars in rail county property is changing hands in the city every day and cotton is at a fair price.

EXPRESS COMPANIES ASK MODIFIED RATE ORDER

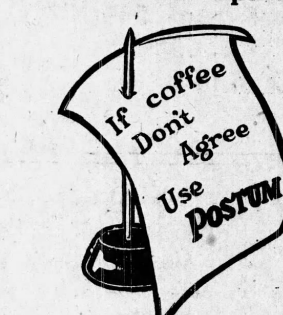

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Representatives of the four leading express companies appeared before the interstate commerce commission today to justify their petition for a modification of its rate orders which would increase their gross revenues about 3.1 per cent. The companies say they do not wish to alter the fundamental rate plan, but that changes should be made in terminal allowances and a reduction be permitted in the weight allowance per 100 pounds from 25 cents to 20 cents. In their petition the four companies set forth that ten months' operation under present conditions made a deficit of more than $2,700,000. The petitioning companies represent 98 per cent of the express business in the United States.

Stick This On Your Spindle

A Nurse says:

"I have been a trained nurse for some fifteen years, and like many nurses, drank strong coffee. About two years ago I had to call a halt. I missed my coffee until some one recommended Postum, which I have used ever since, recommending it to many of my patients."

A Teacher says:

"I have been a coffee drinker ever since I can remember. I have been teaching school for sixteen years, and became more and more nervous. I could not sleep. After reading some of your literature I decided to try Postum. I have been using it about thirty days; my nerves have improved. I have no headache; sleep peacefully, and am able to do my school work better."

A Doctor Says:

"I often find it necessary to prohibit the use of coffee for my patients, and have advised the use of Postum with good results to the nervous system and digestive apparatus."

When the time comes that you want to get rid of coffee troubles, quit coffee and use

WARE SMELL PRESTON: HE'S A VERY BAD MAN

He Loves to Play With a "Razoo" Round Your Heart and Left Lung, Too

"Has anybody seen 'Smell Preston'?" "Tell you how you know—"

"Round your heart, and he'll cut out your left lung, too. 'Ew-gone him!'"

"He'll cut out your left lung, too."

County and city policemen Tuesday, upon receiving a notice of $25 reward for "Smell" Preston, wanted at Sparta, Ga., for attacking and maiming an officer before he escaped and started toward Atlanta, recalled the words of the immortal song about "Smell Preston."

Like Sam, Smell loves to "play with a razor" round your heart, and cut out your left lung, too," according to advice from Hancock county in and around Sparta, the former field of Smell's carving activities.

Smell is now headed for Atlanta, after maiming an officer who tried to hinder his getaway, and Sheriff T. P. High tower of Hancock county, has sent handbills broadcast over the country, offering $25 for anyone who will capture the rabid Smell.

Smell's description is not reassuring to his would-be captors. Here it is: John Preston, better known as Smell Preston, black, broad shouldered, 5 feet 8 inches tall, aquiline nose, sullen disposition, fresh pistol wound in shoulder or arm, last seen at Carey, Ga., going toward Atlanta.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
GRiffin, Ga., May 26.—W. S. Swann, who was seriously shot here on the steps of the Spalding county court house by Forrest McKenney because intended to marry McKenney's mother, Mrs. Lillian McKenney, is at the present resting well. After the shooting Swann was rushed to the Griffin hospital, where an operation was performed at once. It was found that there was one puncture of the large intestine and spinal injuries; there were also two shots that entered the abdominal cavity and one that fractured the arm.

Although in a critical condition, the injured man had a good night Tuesday night and was comparatively comfortable. McKenney, after his surrender to the officials was placed in the county jail. For a time he was raving, but is now recovered to some extent. He says that he is dying to die, and that he will not allow his mother to marry Swann.

Mrs. McKenney had driven Swann to Griffin from Orchard Hill in a buggy and were followed by Forrest McKenney. Swann went to the ordinary's office and secured a marriage license. EUROPE WARNED OFF BOTH THE AMERICAS

Columbia Delegate at Pan-American Conference Sounds New Slogan

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 26.—The American delegate at the Pan-American conference today, with a wall of inviolability that no European nation shall dare to penetrate, was the subject of discussion today at the Pan-American financial conference by Dr. Basilio Peres Triana, a delegate from Colombia.

In a speech that stirred the conference as it has been moved only by the address of President Wilson, the Colombian delegate pictured the prime minister of an unnamed European nation, faced with problems of over-population and restricted territory at home, working for the conquest of the untouchable fields of the western hemisphere.

"In America," he said, "should be prepared to make our inviolability stronger every day. We have seen what that inviolability means by Chile war. There may be distrust even of loving families. There may be dark corners in the past history of this continent, but let us see that in the future our harmony is diaphanous and transparent and clear."

There may have been failures in the past, but let us forget them. Let the dead past bury its dead. Let the nations have represented in solemn and formal fashion make it manifest that none covet the territory of any other and that the homes and territory of each shall be sacred; let honesty and not convenience guide the policy of nations; and that is the flag of right that they may come to our fertile valleys, but as peaceful multitudes and not as conquerors."

FUTURE TRADING DEBT CANNOT BE COLLECTED

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—The federal court of appeals today decided that a debt incurred through "future" trading where there was no intention to deliver or receive the commodity traded it cannot be collected. The far-reaching decision was read by Judge Don J. Pardee and was concurred in by the entire court.

The decision reversed a verdict obtained in the federal court for the northern district of Georgia, D. W. James, whom the evidence showed to be a broker, sued Waldo L. Clement for $10,000, which he said was the amount he had advanced Clement as margins on future cotton trading.

The decision rendered today covers all future trading and goes into the case in detail. It is stated that such a debt could be considered only as a gambling transaction and cannot be collected in states where laws make a gambling debt invalid. The case was sent back for a new trial.

The effect of the war on European trade and the activity of the industrial relations commission also were discussed.

Solanum Tuberosum

When a certain Congressman who represented as late during early years from the house, there is a tuber known as solanum tuberosum which was once identified here but is now called a potato. Could you get me some of them? If the plant referred to is available I shall be glad if you will forward a supply to my office.

I have your letter of recent date and note your request to forward to your office, for a substitute, a supply of "tuber roots" of solanum tuberosum which was once plentiful here but is now quite scarce. Solanum tuberosum is simply the Latin name for the common variety of potato, and in many localities are becoming "tuber roots."—National Monthly.

We Announce For Thursday A Display of Summer Dresses

We have planned this display to take on much of the nature of an opening. It is an opening sans the formality.

To make it as meaningful as was possible, as true to what we wished to claim for it, our Dress Buyer made a trip to New York.

Here then, are the fashions in summer dresses! The authentic, the authoritative fashions of the moment. You are invited.

There is much to be seen, much that women will enjoy.

For mornings, and for trips to town, in colors, stripes and floral patterns. Lawn and linen dresses.

All net, net with lace, embroidered in white and colors, net and organdie dresses, net and taffeta dresses.

The vogue that net dresses are enjoying is one of the marks of the season. And certainly there is good reason. Nothing daintier, more truly to the liking of femininity has been offered in many a day.

Particularly attractive are the taffeta coatties so often used with the white nets, they lend a touch of color as well as a smartness of line that is charming.

In all, then, this display brings the dress fashions.

OLD SEAL OF STATE IS DESTROYED BY GOVERNOR

Solemn Ceremonies Mark Destruction of Old and Adoption of New Seal

Georgia's old Great Seal of State, which had been in use 115 years, since 1778, was destroyed by Governor Slaton Wednesday at noon, and immediately thereafter the governor issued an order making the new Great Seal provided under the resolution of the last general assembly, the emblem of the state's sovereignty and of the state's good faith.

Solemn and appropriate ceremonies marked the destruction of the old Great Seal and the adoption of the new, and a few minutes after the conclusion of the ceremonies the new seal was used for the first time by Secretary of State Cook on bond No. 1 of the $2,000,000 issue of refunding state bonds, the governor immediately signing this bond so it might receive the first impression of the new seal.

Both Governor Slaton and Secretary Cook expressed regret that the old Great Seal had to be defaced, but the law required it and it was done. Secretary Cook said that inasmuch as he had for years been used for years by his father, who preceded him as secretary of state, he was glad that the law did not require him to destroy it. Although he felt the same sentimental reluctance, the governor, controlled by the law to do the work of destruction, seized a hatchet and hacked both the front and reverse side until it was impossible again to make an impression with them, and it was of pure silver, was soft and during its long service had been worn almost smooth.

Just before destroying the old seal Governor Slaton made a brief talk in which he recounted its romantic history. He then signed an order adopting the new state seal, the contract for which had been awarded to Maier & Berkele, Atlanta jeweler, and the actual engraving of which had been done by J. W. Kreeger, of that firm.

Surrounding the governor during the ceremonies were Secretary of State Philip Cook, Controller General William A. Wright, Tax Commissioner Judge John C. Hart, Attorney General Warren Drive, Executive Secretary A. H. Tim, Assistant State Treasurer J. O. Anderson, Hubert W. Andrews, of Maier Berkele company, and J. W. Kreeger, the engraver.

Religion and Business

Some two years ago J. P. Morgan testified that his character was the best asset in business; that he treated a man and dealt with him primarily as that asset. This aroused a great deal of interest among business men, and now we find the Wall Street Journal predicting the coming of a great revolution in the way of doing business, and insisting that this revolution is of infinite moment to business men. The Journal believes that the best asset of the man who would succeed in the new era is his character. It is a better remedy and a better tonic than any other, and it is the only one that will give a man the power to do anything great. This is the final truth about the man who will succeed in the new era, and it is the only one that will give a man the power to do anything great.

ITALY AND FRANCE ARE NOW UNITED 'FOREVER'

President Poincaré Sends Note of Congratulation to Italian King

PARIS, May 25.—President Poincaré has sent the king of Italy the following telegram:
"At this solemn hour when Italy enters upon the glorious path marked out by her destiny, all France is glad to think that the two sister nations are going to fight once more for the defense of their common civilization and for the freedom of oppressed peoples. Already brought together by their relationship, by their transients, and by the immortal force of the Latin genius, Italy and France will be united forever by this fraternal solidarity and by this reflected consecration of their natural relations."

"I wish noble Italy a successful realization of her national aspirations, and I beg your majesty to accept these assurances of my devoted friendship."

BISHOP TURNER'S ESTATE VALUED AT ONLY $7,000

Document Says He Gave Away $50,000 Shortly Before His Death

The will of the late Bishop H. M. Turner, colored, was filed for probate with the ordinary Wednesday by Attorneys Anderson & Rountree and R. W. Crenshaw.

The will disposes only of property valued at $7,000, but it is said that the negro bishop shortly before his death gave away property worth $50,000 to his children and negro educational institutions.

By the will the Turner home on Yonge street is given to the bishop's widow during her life, but then goes to the Turner Normal and Industrial college at Shelbyville, Tenn. He leaves $500 for a scholarship to the Turner Theological seminary at Brown university. He directs his wife to give to deserving ministers in the African Methodist church his collection of books. The residue of the property is to be divided after the death of the widow among his two sons and his daughter.

In the case of the latter he supposed that twenty-four hours would be all. The big gun, on the other hand, looked everlasting, but it only lived when it was being fired, and in its momentary stream of projectiles could be poured out from its active life in that same hour only twelve seconds.

TWO OCEAN STEAMERS COLLIDE OFF NANTUCKET

Ryndam and Cuneo Reported Headed for Port Under Convoy of U. S. Battleship

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Dutch liner Ryndam, which sailed from this port yesterday for Rotterdam with seventy-seven passengers and a million-dollar cargo, was badly damaged in a collision fifteen miles southwest of the Nantucket shoals tonight at 4 o'clock this morning with the tramp freighter Joseph J. Cuneo, which sailed from Boston last night for Barcelona, Cuba. The Cuneo also was seriously injured.

The Ryndam, wireless reports indicate, was struck aft with such force that hold No. 5 filled almost immediately, water flowed freely into the engine room and began to creep up in hold No. 6. The Cuneo's bows, were smashed in badly.

S. O. S. signals were flashed from the Ryndam's wireless and her passengers were transferred hastily to the Cuneo. One hundred and sixty of the Ryndam's crew of 250 likewise were put aboard the freighter, leaving only forty men aboard the liner to navigate it.

American battleships in the vicinity answered the wireless calls. The South Carolina was the first to come along side, and she took on the Ryndam's passengers and those of her crew who had been transferred to Cuneo. The South Carolina was directed by wireless from the Newport navy yard to convey the Ryndam's crew to the United States.

Previous messages from Captain Van Der Heydel said the ship was gaining in No. 6 hold and that the ship might have to be abandoned.

Becker's Chief Counsel
Planning Next Move
(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—Martin T. Maestri, chief counsel for Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant whose conviction of the murder of Herman Rosenthal was affirmed by the court of appeals yesterday, was planning today to visit Becker at Sing Sing.

District Attorney Perkins said that in his opinion Becker's only chance of escaping the electric chair is in newly discovered evidence or in an appeal to the governor. "Not a single constitutional question has been raised in this case," District Attorney Perkins said. "On the other hand, the federal court will refuse to touch the case."

Others asserted that Becker might apply to a federal judge for a writ of habeas corpus or send a petition to a justice of the United States supreme court in the vicinity. In the event of obtaining newly discovered evidence he could apply for a new trial by the court which convicted him in the second trial, or he could ask the governor for a pardon or commutation of sentence.

QUITMAN'S HOG, GRAIN AND PROSPERITY PARADE which greeted the "seeing Georgia" auto tourists Tuesday morning. The parade was the biggest one held in Georgia since the Shriners marched through the streets of Atlanta in the spring of 1914. 20,000 people being present and in line. In the top photograph is shown the gigantic hog, the exhibit of the Moutrie Packing company plant, which leads the line of march, emblematic of one fat source of South Georgia prosperity. At the wheel of an auto-float, is shown in the lower left hand photograph; on the right is Miss Caroline Tarver, sponsor for Albany at the Quitman corporation.

Tifton, Adel and Other Towns
Give Welcome—Making Fast
Time on Journal-Herald
Highway Now

BY WARD GREENE
(Journal Staff Correspondent.)

TIFTON, Ga., May 26.—Leaving Valdosta at 7 o'clock this morning the "seeing Georgia" tourists are making good time on their return trip to Atlanta, hoping to reach Macon by 7 o'clock tonight. Two stops were made between Valdosta and Tifton, at Habersham where the farmers hand turned out and Webb made an address of welcome, declaring that there are "no rich folks but no poor folks in his town," and at Adel where the Adel band furnished music and Rev. C. H. Brooks delivered the address of welcome.

T. Phillips, chairman of the board of county commissioners, R. C. Ellis, L. P. Burnham, H. H. Tift, H. H. Tift, Jr. and other prominent citizens greeted the tourists here. The town was packed with automobiles and a stream of cars announced the arrival of the visitors. The Cobb county booster quartette gave music at every stop and throughout the country the people were out to wave at the passing cars.

The tourists are on The Journal-Herald National Highway now and expect to make record time over the 150 mile trip to Macon.

Wiley West and his voice rejoined the bunch at Valdosta and will be with the tourists the rest of the way.

Seeing Georgia Tourists
Welcomed at Valdosta
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 26.—In order to get a good start Wednesday morning for their homeward yet, the 125-mile grind to Macon, the motorists who are "seeing Georgia" under auspices of the state chamber of commerce left Tifton three hours earlier than scheduled time, arriving at Valdosta early in the afternoon.

Several of them stopped on the way at Blue Springs, a watering place, and took a dip in the spring water pool there. While Ed Cotnam, Bill Stoddard and others were dispersing themselves in the spring board, Will Hopkins, manager of the Texas Oil company branch at Thomastonville, hit a stump in taking a header off the bank and was laid out. It was thought for a while that his spine was injured, but later he came around all right.

The route from Quitman to Valdosta with the turnpike best. The tourists were much interested in the broad stretches of pine forest, each free clipped and coating its riches into a cup. The character of the country through which the cars are now passing is entirely different from that encountered from Atlanta to Columbus. It is also much hotter and while there has not been a sign of rain in a week, the sand roads that predominate heretofore do not raise much dust.

The cars that are in the tour now will all finish about thirty. It is a case of the survival of the fittest, and the mechines that reach Atlanta at 6 o'clock Thursday evening will have proved their merit.

Tonight there was no entertainment planned for the visitors and most of them were weary enough to want to take things easy for the first evening since the trip began.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis and their son, Oscar Davis, all of Atlanta, had a narrow escape on the road from Quitman to Valdosta when the fumes in the carburetor jammed and the car caught on fire. Luckily, there were in a sandy stretch and by throwing heating apparatus of sand of the car the flames were extinguished. This is the fourth time they have had some sort of mishap. The three other experiences being fire trouble. Their car has stood it nobly, however, and in spite of the blaze this afternoon they arrived in Valdosta on time and will make the remainder of the trip.

QUITMAN'S GREAT PARADE
To the visitors from north Georgia the parade at Quitman was a revelation. They were more than surprised, they were fairly stunned by its diversity, its artistry and the completeness and magnitude of its parts. From the time local railroad locomotive steamed down the middle of the street in the van of the procession until a good three hours later, the last mighty truck loaded down with Georgia grain, Georgia meat and Georgia people had passed, their amaze grew until it passed all bounds.

The Shrine procession in Atlanta, was a big parade, but it was no bigger than this, no more costly, no more elaborate. This parade as it stood could not have been purchased for less than two millions, so rich it was with products. Its every truck was significant of the wealth and glory of a state. Governor Stanton declared it the most wonderful sight he had ever seen.

In the front part of the procession were the "seeing Georgia" tourists, after them the beautifully decorated cars from Quitman, Thomastonville, Tifton, Adel, Boston and other towns. Thomastonville alone had 100 decorated automobiles, and over 100 Ford cars had been lined up together. But the real sight was not the autos, nor the bands, nor even the pretty girls in the sponsors' cars. It was the trucks from the farms of Brooks county and her neighbors that won the applause. Some of them were over 25 feet long, carrying live pigs and chickens and cattle. Great golden hanks flanked the sides, sheaves of grain were bunched over the roofs, vegetables and other products abounded. There was a truck carrying the pupils of the Enterprise high school all seated at desks in the monster float.

There was a team of oxen pulling the folk of Cracker Hollow, a few cotton bolls with the legend "Growing live stock here," and a truck carrying a "handcraft car banded high with Georgia made mattresses and the W. C. T. U. with "Water-wagon" on the float of the woman's club of Quitman filling with children hearing the legend "Quitman county's biggest product."

There was that one float with two boys bathing in a bath tub on it and another with a pool and a big summer house; there was a miniature saw mill complete to the log roller and cutting logs as it passed. And there were six-blocks of Georgia Jacks, horses, automobiles, floats, cattle, grain, and all over three miles long, they filed by the reviewing stand until the eyes of strangers to this tremendously rich section of the state stuck out with wonder.

One Atlanta said to another, "I feel very small indeed. Talk about Atlanta, these people have put over something Atlanta never dreamed of. It beats anything I ever saw and I've been around the world twice."

The great crowd was well handled after the parade although it crushed the grass in city hall park into dust, and ate enough food to have accommodated the German army. At that there was enough for everybody with tons and tons of cake and chicken and other good things left over.

The tourists expressed themselves as delighted with the reception accorded them by the citizens of Adel. Mayor Connell and a large number of citizens met the tourists at point several miles below the city.

"Seeing Georgia" Tour
Praised by A. C. Webb
A. C. Webb, manager of the Atlanta office of the Studebaker corporation, who has returned from the "seeing Georgia" tour, pronounces it a success from every standpoint. He returned ahead of time only because of a press of business.

He said the roads were in perfect shape and the tourists were given splendid hospitality.

DEKALB CITIZENS WILL DISCUSS FULTON MERGER

Some Definite Action May Be Taken at Decatur Meeting May 28

The movement to merge DeKalb county with Fulton county, which was started two or three years ago and which has been steadily gaining headway in DeKalb county ever since, will be discussed by the citizens of DeKalb county in a mass meeting assembled at the court house in Decatur next Friday, May 28, at 10 o'clock in the morning, the published statement of the meeting would be at night being an error.

A meeting of representative citizens from all parts of the county was held at Stone Mountain last Saturday night, May 22, and that meeting passed a resolution calling the meeting for next Friday morning.

Numerous reasons were advanced in favor of the merger of the two counties, principal among them being the fact that they are already linked together by a common telephone, street car and highway system, with Atlanta overlapping into DeKalb county and with the people of DeKalb and the towns between DeKalb and Atlanta all being a virtually one community with Atlanta.

Fulton county would gain by the merger, increased territory, increased wealth and increased population.

DeKalb county would gain a simplification of the machinery of county and municipal governments where the two counties are at present divided, and would gain the very great advantage of having her roads and highways constructed by a modern, up-to-date and splendidly equipped public works department. All phases of the subject will be discussed at the mass meeting in Decatur and definite action looking toward the merger is confidently expected.

WANT PATIENTS IN GRADY TO PAY WHEN THEY CAN

Officials Trying to Devise Plan to Make Those Pay Who Are Able

Members of the council committee on hospitals and charities and of the board of trustees of the Grady hospital have come to the conclusion that many patients, unable to stand the cost of treatment in a pay hospital, are occupying beds in the charity wards of the medical institution and thus excluding, for want of room, patients who are really unable to pay for medical attention.

The two bodies are seeking a remedy for the situation and a special committee from the board of trustees has been appointed to report to the board of trustees of the hospital, and taking steps to make patients, who are financially able, pay for accommodations at the hospital.

The finance committee has agreed to provide for an investigation of the trustees consider this plan feasible. There is some question as to the legality of attempting to force patients to pay or to go to another hospital.

The board of trustees of the hospital, in session Tuesday, by a vote of 10 to 2, extended their sympathy to Dr. W. S. Phipps, Jr., on the death of his wife.

MAYOR DEDICATES FUN FOR ANDREWS' BARBECUE

Keeps Crowd Laughing by References to Recent Trouble With Council

"Why, move to impeach me have been intermittently made for the past fifteen years—they disturb me very little and change me not a bit," declared Mayor Woodward Tuesday afternoon in speaking to 150 leading citizens of Atlanta and Fulton county, who gathered at a barbecue given by Colonel Walter P. Andrews at the spring on his estate on the Peachtree road.

The big barbecue, tendered to the county commission and the city officials, was in celebration of the opening of Andrews avenue, the first concrete road in Fulton county, and with the crowd of several speakers, kept the crowd laughing by his references to his recent troubles with the city council.

The mayor, among other things, said that he had never believed two-thirds of the council had organized to fight the mayor and the other one-third of the council.

Clark Howell presided as toastmaster at the barbecue, and presided the mayor.

The speakers were Richard H. Hardy, of Chattanooga, president of the Dixie Cement company, an incorporator of the Dixie highway and one of the men instrumental in getting Fulton county to build the Andrews avenue concrete road; W. Tom Winn, of the board of county commissioners; S. B. Turman, chairman of the county board, and host of the party.

There were present many county and city officials and practically the entire city council.

ATLANTIAN MAKES TRIP TO N. Y. ON MOTORCYCLE

Berry Cohen Goes From Atlanta to Springfield in Six Days

Berry Cohen, or "Darnedest Berry" as he is familiarly known in Atlanta sport circles, who started from this city several days ago for New York, via motorcycle, has reached his destination and is now headed south, according to information to The Journal Tuesday morning.

Cohen and Joe Shapiro, a local pugilist, made the trip on Cohen's machine as far as Atlantic City, where Shapiro left him for a visit to relatives. Cohen continued his trip and pushed farther to Springfield, Mass. He covered the distance in six days of actual riding, and he has, thereby, set a record which will hang up for some time to come.

Cohen said he followed closely the route prescribed by The Atlanta Journal-New York Herald highway and generally found no serious difficulties.

THE TRUTH IN, OF AND ABOUT ATLANTA

Jesus said:

"To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth.

"Everyone that is of the truth hear-eth my voice."

"I am—the truth."

Those engaged in violating the law of Georgia make a mistake in thinking that they constitute the whole of the city of Atlanta.

The state—the world should know—all Atlantans do not approve law-breaking in saloons and clubs and the suffering that follows always upon its heels.

Those having a contempt for law are a lessening minority in Atlanta, as they are throughout Georgia.

But unfortunately, agencies serving the liquor interests are at work in the state. You have seen in the daily press those flaring advertisements of twin poisons, whiskey and beer, urging their use, picturing beer as a food. Many papers refuse to publish them.

THE HAMILTON (GEORGIA) JOURNAL

says: "We need money, Lewis-Seabrook Company, but your beer advertising is no go with us."

THE MANCHESTER MERCURY

says: "Doubtless every country weekly newspaper in the state has received from a certain Atlanta advertising agency an offer to publish a beer advertising contract—

"This paper was offered the advertising, and it was about the best offer we have had in some time. This article, however, is all the attention it has had from us.

"We trust that the country editors will see through this scheme of the beer and whiskey interests and ignore them, or else show them up in their efforts to buy up the weekly newspapers with the proverbial mess of pottage."

THE QUITMAN (GEORGIA) ADVERTISER

has this:

"We regret very much that the Gilreath News Syndicate of Atlanta is one of the press agents of the vice faction. Mr. Gilreath issues a news letter that is invaluable to the country newspapers—

"But Gilreath takes every uncalled for occasion to fight Chief Beavers and the police. He is a great champion of the whiskey forces. He is the mouth-piece of big capital, but—

"The editor was for fourteen months, off and on, a police reporter in Atlanta and knows Chief Beavers no doubt even better than Mr. Gilreath. He was in position to know that few better men ever lived than the chief—

"Mr. Gilreath is merely making a dupe of Georgia's weeklies."

"WHERE DID THE CHILDREN GET THE INTOXICANTS?"

"We respectfully refer the question—
"To the 180 near beer saloons in Atlanta—
"The blind-tiger locker clubs that sell liquor—
"To the city council which takes the license money and says—
"Go ahead and sell. It may make the children drunk, but go ahead and sell."

You, who are breaking the law of Georgia, will you not stop and think? Anarchy, that spawn of ignorance and greed, can never prevail against a law born of knowledge and the love of God and man.

Anarchy with you makes your defeat doubly sure, whether it be swift or slow—You cannot win.

All Georgia, wondering, looks aghast and asks—
"How long will the law-abiding people of Atlanta permit a handful of men to run roughshod over the will of the state and a majority of its capital city, when any judge of the superior court must close these blind-tigers upon the application of any citizen?"

If public officials and grand juries refuse protection, there is the injunction and the ballot-box.

Be warned—
Invest not too heavily in blind-tiger stock, even if Council should again betray the people by licensing law breakers again during the next two months.

The end approaches.
The world respects a city that refuses to tolerate vice and political corruption.

The world respects Atlanta.

Ready here, right now, is a wonderful variety of yarns, fiber and grass rugs. No matter what the scheme of furnishing may be, we have summer rugs in this showing to harmonize with it.

Among the Grass Rugs

CREX RUGS are head and shoulder above all other grass rugs in public favor. This season brings new weaves, so that you may now have CREX Rugs, with plain or figured borders, in the regular weave, or in the herringbone weave.

What Women Should Know

MUCH of what is called "good taste" in dressing consists in the correct combinations of colors. A dress or suit may have collar, cuffs and revers of a color that gives just the required touch of style and dash. On the other hand, the color used may be harmonious but lack that peculiar touch that is needed to bring out the best effect. A chart prepared by R. H. Parry, instructor of designing at the American Fashion company of Chicago, and published recently in Women's Wear gives a list of combinations that will aid in the attractive blending of colors. The original aim of the chart was to assist designers of women's garments, but it will be helpful to every woman who has her clothes made by the dressmaker or is her own seamstress. The color of the garment is given first and the three or four which follow are the suitable colors for trimmings, as:

Amber—Pale blue, pale green, buff, clear brown.

Brown (reddish)—Lemon, cream, white, sage green.

Cream—Silver, lavender, violet, mauve.

Green (dark)—Old rose, red, gold, green.

Green (emerald)—Crimson, black, orange, claret.

Green (sage)—Copper, cream, white, mauve—Cream, cerise, black and white, pink.

Cerulean and Lilac—Silver gray, pale lavender, pink.

Flint and White—Lavender, lemon, cream, gold.

Gray (dark)—Buff, amber, pale green, dark green, cream and white.

Hellrope—Pale pink, old gold, cream.

Red (crimson)—Bronze, Red (cerise)—White, blue and gold.

Red (scarlet)—Black, gold, buff white.

Red (brick)—Olive green, pearl gray, dark blue, black.

Orange—Chocolate, French, gray, purple.

Slate—White, amber, silver, gold.

Purple—White, cream, orange, blue (dark)—Olive green, cream, old rose, white.

Blue (light)—Olive green, pink, ivory white.

Pink—Violet, maroon, silver, blue gray.

White—Light green, pearl, blue, lemon, fawn.

Schall—Pale green, scarlet, orange, silver.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"Ah've got so many children. Ah don't know what to do. To tell one from another."

"How many have you got?" asked Peter Rabbit. "It was the second time Peter had asked that question. The first time had been before old Mrs. Possum had brought her family out of the hollow tree and Unc' Billy had had to confess that he didn't know how many children he had got, because he couldn't count them when they were all crowded together with their mother in the hollow tree. But now they came out every day with their mother, and so, of course, Unc' Billy must know how many there were."

"Unc' Billy gave Peter a funny side-long look. 'Ah reckon Ah's got plenty,' said he."

"But how many?" persisted Peter. "Not to keep up of feller like me busy," replied Unc' Billy.

"You don't know how many you've got yet?" exclaimed Peter, starting at Unc' Billy as he was some new and curious thing. "The idea of not knowing how many babies you've got! How would you know if one should be lost?"

Mrs. Possum would know. "Yo can trust maw of woman for that," replied Unc' Billy confidently. "Ah don't worry about that. If anything happens to one of those lil' babies Ah's done bound to know it right smart quick, and Ah's bound to know it too. This man Ah's worrying about not knowing if anything happens to one of these lil' babies. But if yo' really was to know how many Ah done got, Brer Rabbit, suppose yo' count 'em yo'self. Here they come now."

"Sure enough, there was Mrs. Possum coming that way, and as usual she had the whole family with her. In fact there wasn't much of Mrs. Possum to be seen but her head, tail, and feet, because there were little Possums clinging all over her. Peter began to count."

He got to seven, including three heads sticking out of the big pocket in her apron, and then two of these disappeared, and a moment later one popped up. Peter counted well for the rest of the day whether it was one of the two or another, for they all looked as like as peas in a pod. So he began to count all over again.

LIVERPOOL COTTON STATISTICS
 (By Associated Press.)
 LIVERPOOL, May 26.—Weekly cotton exports:
 Total forwarded to mills 62,000 bales of which 53,000 were American.
 Stock 1,768,000 bales; American—1.4 million.
 Imports 128,000 bales; American 128,000
 Exports 7,144 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—Yesterday's first time in weeks there were signs of an absence of export demand and depressed general news telling on spot holders. Leading interior markets quoted lower with a decrease in business. Advices came to emphasize that some holders of export stock offering stock for sale in consequence of a growing inability to ship out, and advices from New York are of the same trend.

Liverpool was again poor with futures points lower than due. Spots 9 points lower, 5,000. Arrivals at Liverpool today 141,000. Arrivals at New Orleans 141,000.

Our market opened about 8 points lower. The poor Liverpool and unfavorable political and financial advice, signs of spot weakness continued good weather. A report that the American steamer Nebraska had been sunk increased the uneasiness over politics. It caused a quick break to 2.30 for October 1. The weather map shows partly cloudy, windy and warm weather over the belt. Heavy showers in east Tennessee and west North Carolina. Indications are for unsettled weather coming on the belt. The two rainstorm formations over north and Arkansas likely to pass eastward and Crop news continues generally good in conjunction with the growing disturbance in export trade, weakening finances, and the large surplus supply this season. A bullish view to predominate. Some change for the better in war news or finances is needed to revive confidence.

being realized that no preparations have been made to move the next crop freely and that the buying power of the nations in the second year of the war must be very smaller than at the start. - 8
Liverpool today closed at the lowest.
It points down on the old and 9 to 10 down on new crops, and yet marks the low at the close.
Spots here are dull, export demand lazier and are lower to trade to allow buying a few cargoes.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS.

erman answer to the American note is significant. It is a factor and until this is decided the interest in cotton is difficult to stimulate. The news of a decided news of a favorable nature to arouse speculation. There does not seem to be a measure of actual cotton at the moment. The influence sentiment on the decline. So, the selling by one broker of cotton will improve the position somewhat.

S. B. Chapin & Co.: By the time the present crop report is ready to be announced the market will have doubtless discounted the anticipated shortage on general trade, and
